IR 710, Senior Seminar: 1 credit
Asbury Theological Seminary
William C. Goold, Leader

E. L. Fisher Library
Asbury Theological Seminary
Shelbyville, Kentucky 40064

Goal and Purpose of the Seminar

1. The student shall experience an informal discussion and exploration of the inner life and needs of the person who anticipates the ministry of Christian musician.
2. The student shall explore the multiplicity of relationships to be experienced as a ministering musician / leader.
3. The student shall identify known strengths and needed growth areas for increased effectiveness as musician / leader / minister.
4. The student shall attempt to bring closure to the ATS experience in such a way that a personal theology of music ministry is identified.

Format and Design of the Seminar

1. At the first meeting, the professor / leader, with students, will finalize and confirm the weekly meeting time and place. Once confirmed, attendance is required and shall be given the highest priority.
2. All sharing and discussion shall be held in strictest confidence. The group must be a safe place for any topic, thought, problem or need which any member may wish to share. Once shared, the information stays within the group. Trust and respect will be our constant goals.
3. Each member will keep a weekly journal during the semester of IR 710. The nature and contents of this journal will be discussed at the first meeting.
4. Selected readings, intended to prompt and stimulate the focus of discussion will be distributed by the leader each week. These articles and readings should be read thoughtfully, prior to the next meeting.
5. Each class member will be expected to contribute in each meeting. It is expected and intended that the group build a community of loving, affirming trust which allows "the truth to be shared in love."
6. Class members will be encouraged to suggest additional topics for discussion. If a suggested topic is adapted, the class will be expected to prepare for a meaningful discussion of that topic.

Grading and Credit

1. One credit unit will be awarded, pending the following:
  - a. verification of the weekly reading assignment.
  - b. meaningful, consistent contributions to class discussion.
  - c. faithful attendance.
  - d. completion of a weekly journal which bears evidence of thoughtful, consistent entries which show connection with the group and personal insights and spiritual formation. Journal is due Tuesday of final's week.
